What becomes of all the pennies? A superficial answer might be that we spend them, as in truth we do; but did you ever stop to consider the enormous quantities of the little copper coins turned out by the Philadelphia Mint every year? The figures are really appalling in their magnitude. There are at present about 1,000,000,000 cents in circulation, and yet the mint is compelled to turn out nearly 4,000,000 a month to keep up the supply. It seems as though this most common coin must in some mysterious fashion vanish in thin air, for surely nobody hoards them. —[Philadelphia Record.]

The Westfield correspondent of the Springfield Republican Tuesday referred to the Howe-Lavin concert which is to be given in that city next Wednesday as follows: "This will be the first public appearance of the famous prima donna soprano since her return from Germany, and she will be greeted by a large audience. For several seasons she has been singing and reciting in grand opera and her appearance the 18th will be warmly welcomed. She has been in Westfield several times and each time has been greeted by immense audiences. Her husband, William Lavin, the tenor, is also very popular in Westfield and will assist in the program. Mr. Lavin has been in Westfield, recently as the guest of his father, John Lavin."

A Treatise on Practical Dairying.

"Keeping Cows for Profit" is the appropriate title of a very attractive little book on practical dairying which the De Laval Separator company, 74 Cortlandt street, New York, have issued for free distribution. The book treats of dairying as a manufacturing business and discusses its problems from the standpoint that every dairy farmer is just as much a business man as though engaged in any other manufacturing or commercial undertaking. It is compiled in a terse, practical manner, is easily readable, and can hardly fail to be interesting and instructive to everyone in any way concerned in dairying. It is handsomely printed and illustrated, and altogether a pleasing milk-making scene, and the back cover, which received first prize at the Chicago Exposition.

The book begins with a brief review of the history of dairying, shows the relative percentages of the various component parts of the different dairy products, takes up the production and marketing of such products in one form after another, and closes with a pertinent reference to private dairying. In an historical and statistical way it tells much that is interesting, and the little book will be read with interest by all farmers and dairymen. The De Laval company will send a copy to any reader who asks for it.

WAR IS ON.

President Krueger Delivers an Ultimatum

And War Begins in the Transvaal—Explicit News is Meagre, but There is no Doubt of the Main Fact.

The civilized world was startled Wednesday morning by the news that President Krueger of the Transvaal Republic has issued a peremptory ultimatum to Great Britain couched in the most hostile and defiant terms. The ultimatum amounted in terms to this: Great Britain is peremptorily ordered to recognize the entire independence of the Transvaal, in external as well as internal affairs; to withdraw all her troops instantly from the Transvaal frontier, without a corresponding withdrawal of Transvaal troops from the Natal frontier; to withdraw all reinforcements which have been sent to South Africa in the last four months, and to turn away without landing all troops now on the way to any part of South Africa. And if the British government did not yield to these demands at once, to wit, by 5 o'clock Wednesday afternoon, the Transvaal would instantly thereafter declare war and begin hostile operations.

In England the week opened with a proclamation by the Queen ordering the mobilization of British troops and their despatch to South Africa, and also directing that Parliament assemble on Oct. 17. This action greatly intensified the feeling that a crisis was at hand in South African affairs.

With the British troops already in South Africa, and those now under orders to go there, the entire force available for service will be 70,000 men. This is against 40,000 or 45,000 men of all ages and conditions which the Transvaal Republic and the Orange Free State can mobilize.

The War Is On.

The despatches thus far received indicate that the Boers began moving their forces the moment that the hour set in President Krueger's ultimatum expired, and that the war is now on. Secretary Vanderhoeven of the Transvaal European agency, officially notified the French government Thursday morning that a state of war exists between the South African Republic and Great Britain.

Official confirmation of the announcement that the Orange Free State burghers have entered Natal by way of Van Renssen's Pass is at hand. It leaves no further room for doubt that acts of war have already been committed and that the campaign has begun.

News of an invasion on the northern border is also generally accepted as reliable. It seems improbable, therefore, that a clash between the forces of Britain and Boer can be long delayed, if it has not occurred already.

Howard & Yearly's Lorna Doone won fourth money in the 2:27 class at Holyoke, Mass., this week, four of the heats being trotted Tuesday and two Wednesday. In the second heat Lorna Doone's sulky collided with that of another horse and the mare's driver was thrown. Lorna Doone circled the track to the quarter pole where she was easily caught. Robert Reel, owned by F. L. Chickering of Westmoreland, N. H., won second money in a special race at Holyoke Friday. Venora, the mare which finished last in the 2:18 class at the Valley Fair, won the 2:19 class in straight heats at Old Saugus Wednesday.

"The Best is the Cheapest."

Experience teaches that good clothes wear longest, good food gives best nutrition, and a good medicine that cures disease is naturally the best and cheapest. Hood's Sarsaparilla is the best medicine money can buy, because it cures when all others fail.

Poor Health—"Had poor health for years, pains in shoulders, back and hips, with constant headache, nervousness and no appetite. Used Hood's Sarsaparilla, gained strength and can work hard all day; eat heartily and sleep well. I took it because it helped my husband to whom it gave strength." Mrs. E. J.
